

MAINTAIN YOUR CONNECTION. ADVANCE YOUR LEARNING AGENDA.

Personalized Virtual Learning for the Next Normal

A turnkey solution package designed to address your business goals during and after COVID-19

COVID-19 has been the single biggest driver of digital transformation to date. Organizations scrambled to sort out how to manage a sudden shift to remote work for an entire workforce in days or weeks, not the months or years their long-term planning may have anticipated. The fact is that once COVID-19 is under control, many businesses will never go back to the way things were pre-2020. According to Gallup research, three in five U.S. workers who have been working from home during the pandemic would prefer to continue to work remotely once public health restrictions get lifted. According to an ADP Canada survey, 45% of working Canadians say they would prefer to work from home at least three times a week.

What are your options? While there is some very good stock eLearning content out there (Bulletproof happens to have an exceptional library!), how do you effectively deliver training on subject matter that is unique and/or specific to your organization, its business, and operational goals?

We can help. Our top-notch Partner team of eLearning professionals has developed a turnkey solution package that combines the development of a custom interactive 30-minute digital course with all the features of a world-class eLearning experience.
